WELCOME

Frederik Buettgen, born 1981, started his career with a two-year stint assisting Clemens Kerkhoff in Dusseldorf. In this time first and foremost he shot people and portraits.

After two years studying communication design and photography at the Muthesius school of arts in Kiel in the class of Dirk Reinartz, he returned to Dusseldorf for six years of training as an assistant and digital operator. Since that he has explored both art and advertising, still life and people, editorially and commercially.

Since 2009 he worked independently as a photographer in Dusseldorf. The passion he has for classic photography in combination with digital retouching and composing give his pictures a cinematic quality in terms of lighting, expression, colour and contrast.

He enjoys to be present at the idea process right from the beginning and likes doing his own retouching.

On the following pages we created a composition of Frederik's work. With this overview we want to provide an insight into the above mentioned qualities.

Please find more of his work and his portfolio for download on frederikbuettgen.com and cosmopola.de.

We are looking forward to your contact in case of further requests or information needed.
